SECOND GANGWAY WILL BE CUT AT PIER 7 SHORTLY

Harbor Board Not Required to File Building Permit for New Piers, Says Ruling

An additional gangway to relieve the present passenger congestion at Pier 7 when the big Toyo Kisen Kaisha liners dock will be built by the board of harbor commissioners next month. The board will also not have to pay the building permit fee of $400 demanded by City Building Inspector Henry Freitas for construction of the new piers, 8, 9 and 10.

These are the two most important pieces of business transacted by the board of harbor commissioners at its meeting late Tuesday, although another transaction worthy of note is that the board voted to accept Allen & Robinson's offer of $2400 a year for Esplanade lots leased as a part of its lumber yard at Pier 11. The lease is so arranged that the board can cancel it on six months' notice if the land is needed for new pier construction.

Permit Not Necessary
"These piers, 8, 9, and 10," reads the opinion of Deputy Attorney General Arthur G. Smith, relative to the building permit controversy, "are the property of the Territory of Hawaii, and you are advised that the board of harbor commissioners is not, in the opinion of this office, required by law to secure a permit for construction of Piers 8, 9 and 10, which piers are being built pursuant to appropriations in Act 193, S. L., 1915, and that the building and plumbing inspector of the city and county is without legal authority to demand that you file an application for such a permit." The opinion is approved by Attorney General I. M. Stainback.

Will Cut Second Gangway
The board voted that Chairman Charles R. Forbes be authorized to carry out the recommendations of Capt. William R. Foster, the harbor master, relative to putting in an additional gangway at Pier 7, as soon as he can do so. A motion was also carried to have Chairman Forbes write to the agents of all steamship lines in Honolulu, suggesting that they authorize the chairman of the board to employ the harbor police to regulate traffic to and from steamers when discharging and receiving passengers.

Higher Fence Recommended
"I would suggest to the board that another opening be cut makal of the present one (at Pier 7) to allow the use of another gangway, the exact location to be determined after the arrival of the Shinyo Maru September 4, at which time I will mark the location," is the recommendation made by Harbormaster Foster. Another is that a higher fence be erected, at least five feet high, on the balcony, better to control the crowd.

Twelve nominating petitions—count them, twelve. This is the rate at which candidates have been hurling their hats and $10 gold-pieces into the campaign ring for the last 24 hours. Not since the first one was filed has there been such a rush.

Those filed this morning included the following:
John K. Mokuama, Meanelua, Oahu, candidate for the house from the 5th representative district, Democratic ticket.

J. E. Knapuhl, sent in new petition to run as Republican candidate for the house, instead of non-partisan. He lives at Hanalei, Kauai. His sold petition was to run as a non-partisan, but he has changed his mind.

Charles H. Wilcox, Lihue, Kauai, running on the Republican ticket for the house, from the 6th representative district.

D. Kanealii, Hanalei, Kauai. Candidate for the house on the Republican ticket, from the 6th representative district.

Petitions filed late Tuesday were as follows:
Manuel C. Picanco, Wailuku, Maui. Candidate for the house, on the Democratic ticket, 3rd representative district.

Sam Kunaia, corrected petition filed. He left out the name he desired on the ballot, on his first petition. He is running for the house on the Republican ticket. Lives at Kihel, Maui.

Abraham L. Louison, the "Coffee King of Hawaii," against Prince Kuhio, is in the race for Congress, to secure the Republican nomination. Louison lives at Paulilo, Hawaii.

Norman K. Lyman, running for the house, from the 1st district, Republican. Lives at Waiakae, Hawaii. Has served two sessions already.

Manuel G. Paschoal, running for the house, from the 3rd district. Lives Punene, Maui. Is a Republican.

John Leal, Democrat, lives Hilo. Running for house.

Edward Waiaholo, Lahaina, Maui. Running for house, from 3rd district, Republican.

Charles Kaanani, candidate for house, 3rd district, Republican. Lives Kamalo, Molokai.

COUNCILMAN PLANS LAW TO GIVE HIM LONG REST

BOULDER, Colo.—Alderman John A. Hunter believes in going to bed with the chickens and staying there until the sun is well up in the eastern horizon. And, after having gone to bed, Hunter does not want to be disturbed for any reason whatever.

At the council meeting the other evening Hunter moved that the city attorney draft an ordinance prohibiting newboys from selling or crying their wares between the hours of 9 p. m. and 7 a. m., holidays included. Hunter's motion was seconded by another of the early-to-bed-with-the-chickens devotees and ere long the city gods will have to decide whether Boulder remains a progressive and wide-awake town or becomes retrogressive.

WILL SO COMPLICATED WIFE MUST WORK

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Biting the tops off beer bottles and going to the corner for a morning eye-opener in the wife's kimono need not necessarily be signs that a person is insane and unfit to make a legal will, according to a decision by Surrogate Cohan.

Although witnesses had testified that Jason C. Lotterhand, an inventor, was for days in an alcoholic trance, the Surrogate denied the petition of Mrs. Gertrude Patricia Lotterhand to set aside the will upon the grounds of insanity. Upon his death it was discovered that he will so effectually tied up his property, including valuable patents, that Mrs. Lotterhand was forced to go to work to support her three little children.

STARVATION KILLS SYRIANS

LONDON, Eng.—A Times correspondent, back from Syria, writes concerning conditions there:
"The state of the people of Syria is past all belief. It is estimated from 60,000 to 80,000 have died from starvation. The Turks are removing large sections of the population and in some villages there are no Arabic speaking Christians left."

"The epidemic of typhus is gaining everywhere and a great many Turkish army doctors have succumbed. Many civilian prisoners, mostly British, also have contracted typhus. There is great scarcity of drugs and antiseptics. The Germans have taken careful precautions, but the disease is gaining."

KAISER REGRETS HE MUST REMAIN OUT OF TRENCHES

LONDON, Eng.—Emperor William is credited with making a speech to his troops which savors of "Myself and Get," the American verse which caused an international estrangement long before the outbreak of the war. In a despatch to the Wireless Press from Bern the Kaiser is quoted as speaking to his troops at the rear of Peronne, on the Somme front, as follows:
"It is the most poignant grief of my life that I am unable to take a more active part in this war. It is my earnest desire to take my place in the trenches and to deal such blows at our enemies as my age and strength would permit."

"I could take my place with the youngest of you, and I promise that I would leave my mark on the enemy. But the inscrutable Almighty has willed otherwise. Into my care has been committed by divine destiny the leadership of our country, its armies and its forces on land and sea."

"The burden of thinking, deciding and leading has been hard upon me, and, realizing this, I know that my life must not be risked in the foremost line of battle, where my feelings, if unrestrained, would carry me swiftly."

"My life must be conserved carefully for the welfare of Germany in order to carry out the duties assigned to me by divine appointment."

AMERICAN DEMAND IS LARGE FACTOR IN RAISING WOOL PRICE

SYDNEY, Australia.—The American demand was probably the most conspicuous feature of the statistical Australian wool year of 1915-16 during which Antipodean wool trade and prices for certain grades of the product reached figures never before known in Australia.

At the port of Sydney, the largest market for raw wool in the world, although a drought had prevailed over large areas of the state of New South Wales, greatly reducing the flocks, there was an increase in sales of over 154,000 bales and an increase in realizations of over $26,250,000.

During the year in the Sydney market alone the United States more than doubled the quantity of wool taken during the previous year. The total shipments jumped from 92,000 bales in 1914-15 to 273,600 bales (estimated) in 1915-16. Japan and Italy were also heavy buyers. Had not the imperial embargo operated against American purchases just at the close of the year it is probable that the figures for that country would have been still larger.
